returning steady, long-term growth

One of the best measures of our consistency is total return, which expresses the cumulative growth a shareholder experiences over time through stock appreciation and the growth of reinvested dividends. A 1999 investment of $100 in our common stock grew to $142 by 2004 – up 42 percent, compared with an 11 percent loss for the S&P 500 and 36 percent gain for the S&P Packaged Foods and Meats Index.
